From Father:

In this Fourth Sunday of Easter, known affectionately as Good Shepherd Sunday, we come together to contemplate the tender image of Christ as the Good Shepherd who knows His sheep, cares for them, and lays down His life for them. This powerful metaphor, rich with love and sacrifice, is drawn from the Gospel of John (10:11-18) and resonates deeply as we celebrate not only Christ's resurrection but also His constant, guiding presence in our lives.

Today is also the World Day of Prayer for Vocations, an occasion that intertwines beautifully with the theme of the Good Shepherd. Just as the shepherd cares for each sheep, the Church calls on us to pray for those who have dedicated their lives to serving as spiritual shepherds—our priests, deacons, and religious. It is a day to pray earnestly that many will hear and respond to God's call to serve in these sacred roles.

As we reflect on the image of the Good Shepherd, let us consider how Jesus leads, protects, and cherishes His flock. He knows each of us by name, walking ahead to guide us along paths of righteousness. His leadership is not distant or detached; it is personal, compassionate, and sacrificial. This model is the standard for all who serve the Church; they are called not to lead from behind but to walk ahead, setting an example of holy living and self-giving love.

This Good Shepherd Sunday, let us especially remember in our prayers those who are discerning their vocations. May they feel the presence of the Good Shepherd guiding them in their decision-making and may they find courage and clarity in His example. Let us also support those who have already answered the call to serve. They, like Christ, lay down their lives daily in service to God's people. Their vocation is a profound expression of love and sacrifice, mirroring the Good Shepherd who spares nothing for the sake of His sheep.

Together, let us pray:

Lord Jesus, Good Shepherd, who gave your life for the sheep, stir up within us the grace to follow your call to serve. Guide those discerning their vocations and strengthen those who have already dedicated their lives to your service. May we all be inspired by your example of love and sacrifice, and may our community be a beacon of hope and a place of nurturing for those called to lead your Church. Amen.
